AT Y. M. C. A.Pleasing Exhibition Given by
Young Men of This Class.

Saturday, October 26th, was Junior Day at the local Y. M. C. A. Each member of the Junior department was allowed to bring a boy friend all privileges of the Association being open to them. The scene of greatest activity was in the gymnasium, here from ten to twelve of the boys were put through various stunts under the leadership of a picked group of boys consisting of Theodore Butler, Harold Clark, Thomas Craig, John Hasset, Fred Holland, and Frank Patterson. The first of a number of events on the program was marching on mass interspersed with fancy movements followed by a calisthenic drill and graded exercises on the apparatus. The apparatus work was under the direction of the squad leaders which consisted of mat work, tumbling, suspended and balanced work on the parallel bars, vaults and turns on the German horse, and relay races on the running track. Following the apparatus work gymnastic class and group games were indulged in by all present consisting of two deep, double basket ball, basket ball, etc. At the close of the gymnasium hour refreshments were served.

BOWLING NOTICE.

The bowling season is on. There is no better method of winter exercise than bowling. The Elks' alleys at the rear of the Elks' home on Court street offer an excellent opportunity for that relaxation. John W. Mitchell is again in charge and party and club bowling especially catered to.

DIAZ RECEIVES
DEATH SENTENCETwo Other Officers May Face the Executioner--Result of Court
Martial Causes Sensation

Vera Cruz, October 27.—Gen Felix Diaz, leader of the recent revolution here, and Major Zeraite, Col. Antonio Miguil, and Lieutenant Lima officer under Diaz, in his attempt to overthrow the government, were today condemned to death by court martial. Lieutenant Camacho, Captain Mak-yen of the Rural Guard, and Captain Hermilo Martinez were sentenced to ten years imprisonment, and Gabriel Ramos, customs collector, and Hernandez, arosterial censor of telegrams, were sentenced to two years imprisonment. Nine other officials and civilians were allowed to go free. The court martial which was presided over by General Davila, sat in secret session from 2 o'clock Saturday morning until 2.15 o'clock Sunday morning. The sentences caused a sensation. A great crowd including relatives and friends of the accused men gathered outside the building where the court sat, and waited for hours for the findings, notwithstanding the heavy rains.

General Davila refused to acknowledge the orders of the district judge to suspend the proceedings in the case of General Diaz and Major Zeraite. General Beltran, military commander of the zone, however, accepted a writ of habeas corpus and suspended the execution, leaving the prisoners temporarily at the disposal of the district court. It is thought probable that Colonel Miguil and Lieutenant Lima will be shot without much more ado. The proceedings of the military court have been criticized generally as being very deficient. Public opinion has been strongly against a military trial for Diaz. It is openly asserted that the prisoners had an adequate defense and no investigations have been made so far as to why the federal troops entered the city with white flag flying and the greeting "Long Live Diaz."

Col. Diaz Odaz and Col. Cuesta were among the leaders of the rebellion who escaped. It is thought they will join the Oaxaca rebels. General Diaz had more than 1000 men under his banner 300 of whom were made prisoners.

Col. Jimenez Castro of the federal forces who was shot in the leg in a skirmish prior to taking of Vera Cruz, has been sent to Mexico City for the treatment of the wound.

CLAMOR TO SAVE DIAZ

Mexico City, October 27.—News of the sentencing to death of General Felix Diaz, the revolutionary leader and some of his confederates by a military court at Vera Cruz yesterday morning was received here today. This is characteristic of the delay in the receipt of the capital of all news from Vera Cruz.

The uncertainty as to what is occurring in Vera Cruz has served to increase the tenseness of the situation. The friends of Diaz still fear the consequences of the conflict of authority which has arisen between the judicial

USED BEDCLOTHES
TO MAKE ESCAPEThree Criminal Insane Convicts Make Get Away from Bridgewater, Mass.

Bridgewater, Mass., Oct. 27.—Scaling a seventeen-foot stone wall, with a rope made of bed clothes, three prisoners escaped tonight from the criminal insane department of the Bridgewater state farm. The men are Alfred Girard, who was sent here from the Bridgewater jail in 1905; Louis D. Rogers, who came here from the Barnstable jail in 1910, and William Sullivan, 24, who was sent here from the state prison in 1900.

The men were in the smoking room tonight when they stole into the sun parlor adjoining, pried off the grating of the window and in some way fastened their improvised rope to the coping on the top of the seventeen-foot stone wall of the yard and escaped. Seventy-five state farm officers and attendants searched the surrounding country, but up to a late hour none of the trio had been captured.

MUST SIGNAL FORTS.

New Rules for Both Army and Navy—Order Also Concerns Wireless Stations.

The army and navy have agreed to an exchange of signals, and in the future when any navy vessel enters harbor of the United States the senior officer on board will open communications with fortifications flying the American flag.

The number and names of the entering ships must be given, the rank of officer in command, the port from which the vessel came, and the probable length of stay in port.

On leaving a harbor similar signals will be given with other information that may be of interest to the army. Navy vessels will also when passing radio stations of the army call on such stations and exchange wireless messages.

If the operator of the army station fails to answer the call when his station is supposed to be in operation a report will be made to the war department, which will call for an explanation from the operator.

Quinn Case the First Marked
for Trial When Court Is Resumed.

Judge John M. Mitchell will come to this city Tuesday to resume the court session of superior court. The first case marked for hearing is that of Charles R. Quinn against the city of Portsmouth, Mayor Daniel W. Badger city treasurer, John K. Balchelder and Captain Thomas J. Burke, patrolman Frank H. West and James P. McCaffery of the police department. Mr. Quinn desires to restrain the city from paying salary to the three policemen for chasing delinquent canines. He will be represented by attorney Arthur O. Fuller, of Exeter, and the city of county solicitor Samuel W. Emory, Jr.

BECKER ASSERTS
HIS INNOCENCESays He Would Have Been Drunk or Crazy, But Was Neither, to Have Made Gambler His Friend

New York, October 27.—From his cell in the toms, the cell he is soon to leave for the death house at Sing Sing, Charles Becker, the ex lieutenant of police, now awaiting sentence to death for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, issued a statement tonight, in which he protested before God that he was innocent of the crime for which he stands convicted.

There was a note of deep despair in the story the unhappy prisoner told, and he frankly admitted that at this state in his fortunes he did not know of anything he could say that would help him, and realized that the public in general had come to look upon him as the very worst man in the world.

Becker told his story following a three hours talk he had with his wife, talk through the bars of the counsel room, for since the verdict that dooms him, bars must always separate the condemned man from those with whom he communicates. Becker was permitted through a special order of Charles Commissioner Whitney to spend most of what may be his last Sunday afternoon in New York in conversation with his deeply distressed wife. Instead of having to talk to her through the bars of his own cell, where the curious among the prisoners might watch, Becker was taken to the counsel room and through the barred door of that room the former head of the strong arm squad and his faithful wife discussed the great tragedy that has come to darken the life of one and perhaps to end the life of the other.

Mrs. Becker giving every appearance of mental and physical strain, appeared at the toms shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon. She had not long to wait for her husband who was soon brought down by head keeper Cummings. Mrs. Becker remained until the very last minute permitted under the prison rules, which was a few minutes before 5 o'clock. Then Cummings opened the door of the counsel room and Becker came out quickly, caught her in his arms, and kissed her time and time again.

Slowly Mrs. Becker started for the prison door that opened out into Centre street. Becker stood for a moment watching her and when she disappeared out into the street he returned sadly to his cell. Then it was that a note was sent to him by the newspaperman. At first he declined to see them, for he said that he had nothing to say. His dinner waited him and after eating that he changed his mind and sent down word that he would see the reporters.

It was a sad faced, deeply moved Becker that greeted the reporters at the bars of cell No. 112. At last he appeared to have lost some of his haughtiness, and even some of the iron nerve that had caused the trial onlookers to wonder at the strength of the man.

"I am a man," Becker began with great deliberation, who stands convicted of the awful crime of murder in the first degree. I am a man almost without hope and after all is said and done, I do not know anything that I can say that will do me any good. From all that has been said about me the world would think that I was the worst man in it.

"Yet had I been permitted to take the stand in my own behalf, and to have told my own story I believe that the public sentiment that is now arrayed against me, would be very different."

"What would you have told Becker was asked.

"For one thing," the condemned man replied, "I would have explained the true story of my relations with Jack Rose. It was my misfortune to have known that man. He was what we of the police call a stool pigeon, and stool pigeons have been used in the police department of New York since the days of Inspector Byrnes."

"I never in all the time that I knew Jack Rose gave him one dollar for what he did for me as a stool pigeon. I met him under peculiar circumstances. It was in October of last year, the 11th day of the month to be exact. At that time Jack Rose ran a house in Second avenue not far from Tenth street, and on the date named and in the line of duty I raided his house."

"After the raid Rose came to me and offered his services to me if I would

PREDICTS TAFT
WILL WIN N. Y.Barnes Figures President Will Carry State by Over 60,000.

New York, Oct. 27.—William Barnes, Jr., chairman of the New York republican state committee, predicted in a statement issued tonight that President Taft would carry that state by a plurality of over 60,000. Outside the city of New York he expects a plurality of 117,000.

"The vote for Mr. Roosevelt in New York," he says, "will not exceed one-sixth of the total vote. It is drawing heavily from that element in the state which otherwise would support the democratic ticket."

"This prediction is based on figures received from 1068 election districts out of a total of 1105 outside of Greater New York, which report, through the canvassers completed, the following vote for president: Taft, total, 155,054; Wilson, 117,777; Debs, 4621; Chafin, 5962; Roosevelt, 42,583; Taft's plurality, 40,277."

"This ratio of vote, if carried out throughout the state, indicates a vote outside of Greater New York for the president as follows: Taft's total, 459,640; Wilson, 342,481; Debs, 14,351; Chafin, 17,358; Roosevelt, 124,200; Taft's plurality, 177,958."

"The canvasses of Greater New York indicates a plurality for Wilson of less than 50,000 in the city."

HIGH SCHOOL DEFEAT THE ROCHESTER HIGH

Show a Big Improvement and Play Faster Ball.

The high school foot ball team defeated the Rochester high at the playing on Saturday afternoon in a fast game. The game was played at the Plains owing to the fact that the Play ground was taken by two teams from the navy yard.

The team showed much better attack and were faster on defensive work than they have been. They followed the ball well and in all respects showed a marked improvement. They used the forward pass successfully and one of the feature plays was a forward pass that Dame scored a touchdown from.

Rochester was never very dangerous but occasionally they showed flashes of good work.

Wright was injured and forced to retire and Graham was sent in his place.

Captain Devore of the Army Eleven May Not Play Again this Season

CAPTAIN DEVORE

West Point, N. Y., October 28.—Army football coaches are considerably worried over the failure of Captain Devore to recover quickly from the injuries received in practice shortly before the game with Yale. At first it was thought the injuries were only slight, but later reports say that he may not be able to play again this season. It is true it will be a big blow to the Army men. Devore is one of the greatest tackles in game ever produced and a tower of strength to the Army eleven. Last year he was selected as an All American tackle.

FOR A BAD STOMACH PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Time it! In Five minutes Gas, Sourness and Indigestion is Gone

Sour gassy, upset stomach, indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia; when the food you eat ferments into gases and stinks; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realize the magic in Pape's Diapepsin. It makes such misery vanish in five minutes.

If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated please, for your sake try Diapepsin. It's so needless to have a bad stomach—make your next meal a favorite food meal then take a little Diapepsin. There will not be any distress without fear. It's because Pape's Diapepsin really does regulate weak, out of order stomachs, that gives it its millions of sales annually.

DIAZ RECEIVES DEATH SENTENCE

ary and military courts. It would be no surprise to thousands here to receive a message announcing the execution of the rebel general and his associates.

Efforts to save their lives, especially that of Diaz, continue unabated. Prominent women high in affairs of congress and even high army officials have appealed to President Madero for clemency. But to all he has given the same negative answer. To a group of women he intimated that to show clemency would be construed by the world as an indication of weakness.

The popular voice of protest has grown so strong against the execution of Diaz that his arrest has been between the President and senate a sharp discord, and as individuals the senators have seriously discussed the question of impeachment because of the administration's defiance of that body's interpretation Friday.

That the senate will take this step, however, is not considered probable for many reasons, one of them being the question of succession.

That the quick suppression of the Diaz revolt has shown strength on the part of the government is conceded in the capital, but that the situation generally has been improved is a matter of doubt. A number of rebel bands which were operating in afied and apparently as active as many parts of the republic are still over. Added to the list is a well defined revolt in Yucatan.

General Aguilera continues his campaign in the region about Tehuacan where since the affair of Vera Cruz his followers have entered a number of towns and appropriated horses and supplies.

With the ending of the Diaz campaign, the government is sending the troops back to the disturbed section especially about Torreon and in the state of Mexico where the rebels have lately occupied and burned the stations of the railway between Toluca and Mexico City.

RAILROAD CHANGES. Improvements for Handling Freight on the Boston & Maine.

The freight crews of the southern division of the Boston & Maine railroad which run between Manchester and this city over the Portsmouth branch, have been learning the Worcester, Nashua and Portland division between Epping and Windham Junction in preparation of the changes which the company will make soon.

It is planned to move all through freight from this city to Manchester and northern points via the W. N. & P. from Epping, Windham Junction and the Manchester and Lawrence branch. By this arrangement the mileage will be lessened, the tonnage increased and the big grade and curves of the Portsmouth branch north of Raymond avoided. It will be a great improvement in the shipments of coal from this city.

Another change which shows live action on the part of the officials is the running of all through freights of the W. N. & P. over the western division to Lowell Junction, thence to Ayer and the Stony Brook branch to Worcester. This change is also made to avoid the many grades of the W. N. & P. and to increase the tonnage of through freights. It makes a decided improvement in the shipments of freight from New York and the west.

SUCCESSFUL BIDDERS.

For Condemned Materials at the Portsmouth Navy Yard.

Perry, Buxton and Doane of Boston were the principal bidders Saturday at the auction of condemned materials on the Portsmouth navy yard. The firm offered about $1500 for lots of old iron, boiler materials, structural iron steel and heat cranes. Among the other bidders whose offers were highest on various lots are John G. Varwood, Charles H. Stewart and Samuel Shapiro of this city, Sackoff and company and Finkermahn and company of Portland, Me., Goodison and Gould of Lawrence, Mass., the Vearsley company of Providence, and the Illinois Smelting and Refining company. The Atlantic Marine company of Boston also bid successfully.

EXETER LETTER

Although the Eagle steamer, which was repaired during the past summer, has not had an actual test, Chief George N. Carter is sure that it has been wonderfully improved. It was taken out for a test at the last meeting night of the firemen and pronounced to be of the very best running order.

Since it was received from the Manchester works there have been two alarm signals but each of the fires were extinguished before the engine arrived, the work being done by the chemicals. While the regular engine was away for repairs there were several alarms sounded and the old one, which was procured while the regular steamer was away, was called into use several times.

When Col. Rufus N. Elwell and former Gov. Henry B. Quincy addressed the citizens of Newton Saturday evening they were greeted with the old time republican enthusiasm. Both speakers gave their audience some plain and effective talk. Colonel Elwell speaking on the tariff. He said that the third termers were chiefly an aid to the democrats and that the coming contest was primarily a fight between the republicans and the democrats as it has been in the old days.

Another speaker was John Scammon of Exeter, the republican candidate for senator from the twenty-first district. Mr. Scammon devoted his remarks for the most part to the county issues and he was generously applauded. It was his first appearance in the "stump" this campaign.

Local residents and especially the alumni of Phillips Exeter academy are interested in the appointment of Maj. Amos B. Shattuck of the class of 1879 to a post in the Philippine Islands. He is to have command of the post at Zamboanga. Major Shattuck is from Manchester, and this year entered a son, Mrs. B. Jr., at the academy. The major was a member of the first baseball nine that ever represented Phillips Exeter, doing the pitching, and his father was Charles W. Byington, now of the Exeter Banking company. He was also a half back on the football eleven at the academy and held a like record at Harvard and West Point after being graduated from Exeter.

The Rev. Benjamin T. Marshall, professor of Biblical literature at Dartmouth, was the preacher at the academy chapel this morning.

Dates to be filled by Colonel Elwell this week, which is practically the closing week of the campaign, are Monday evening, Winchester; Tuesday, Jafford; Wednesday, New Boston; and Thursday he will speak with Secretary of the Treasury MacVeigh at Dublin.

Three parties, the republican, democrats and the socialists, will hold rallies this week here. The socialists, Monday evening, when the speakers will be the Rev. Paul H. Blake of Portland, Me., and George A. England socialist candidate for governor at Maine. Tuesday evening, the democrats will be addressed by Henry F. Lillis of Concord, candidate for United States senator, and the Rev. L. H. Jackson of Chichester. The republicans will hold theirs Thursday evening, he speakers to be Senator Gallagher and Prof. Frank W. Preston, principal of the New Hampton academy at New Hampton.

GOV. BASS WORN OUT

Worn out by his efforts in stumping the State for the Progressive party, Gov. Bass has broken down and is a probable he will not be able to speak again before election.

His physicians have declared it is absolutely impossible for him to continue speaking, and a substitute was put in his place last Saturday night. The Governor is with his wife's relatives in East Walpole, Mass.

DIABETES

From late figures the hope of recovery under the new embothen treatment seems to be about as follows:

In people of sixty and over result are quite uniform, probably minus ten per cent recovering. While at fifty and over a large majority of all cases yield to the treatment, below fifty are approaching forty the percentage is not high, probably not much over half yielding.

Under thirty the percentage is less and in children recoveries have been very few and most of these were obtained with the aid of skilled physicians forcing nutrition with alkaline treatment to prevent formation of acetones.

The new semollient treatment known as Bloodline and Kidney Tablets. They can be had in Portsmouth at the Tilton Drug Company.

We desire every patient to write us who is not getting the usual improvement by the third week. Always state age, literature mailed free and mail orders filled by the Bloodline Corporation, Boston, Mass.

In the I. O. O. F. hall a whist and dance party was given on Friday evening.

PHONEY MONEY FOUND.

Macfarland Recently Acquitted on Charge of Wife Murder.

New York, Oct. 27.—Allison M. Macfarland, who was acquitted in Newark, N. J., ten days ago on a charge that he murdered his wife, is under arrest here charged with counterfeiting.

Three federal secret service officers seized him in a room on 106th street, where he was known as Allison Mason, yesterday, but his identity did not become known until today. In his room were found four partly made counterfeit half dollars, silver foil for the outside of the coin, lead composition for their base and a small press for taking the impression from the coin.

Stubborn Colds May Lead to Consumption

Did you ever have a cold that would not let go; a cough that persisted that prevented sleep and made waking hours miserable? Eckman's Alternative is the proper remedy in such cases. Perhaps some simple medicine may be effective where it is only a tickling in the throat; but when your chest is sore and simple remedies don't answer—then take Eckman's Alternative. Neglect after leads to more serious trouble; a case in point follows:

718 Cherry street, Phila., Pa.
"Gentlemen: In July 1906 I first noticed the conditions that showed had consumption. I lost weight rapidly; had a hollow cough, hemorrhages and very severe night sweats. My brother recommended Eckman's Alternative. In the fall of 1906 I began to take it. At this time I am perfectly well and robust. My appetite is good and my weight has increased from 110 to 140 pounds. Not a trace of my old trouble remains. I will gladly express the merits of this medicine to anyone."

(Signed) M. L. GERHARDT
Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung troubles, and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poison, opiates, or habit forming drugs. For sale by Benjamin Green and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

When Macfarland was in the Newark jail he amused himself with taking wax impressions of coins, the detectives say, declaring that this was only a pastime, but it created the suspicion which led the sleuths to follow him.

MASKED BOYS ROB 22 AUTOMOBILISTS

Hold Up Cars by Placing Park Settees Across Popular Drive.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 27.—Two boys early today held up in a spectacular manner six automobiles and robbed the occupants, 22 in number, of their valuables, aggregating several hundred dollars.

The boys were masked and carried guns of convincing size. They placed several park settees across a popular drive which runs through Miller park and stopped the six automobiles as they came along. They lined the chauffeurs and occupants up along the driveway and while one of the bandits threatened them with a gun the other relieved them of their valuables, consisting of jewelry. The robbers escaped.

CAMPBELL SAVED BOY.

Frank Moore Pulled From Sugar River, His Rescuer Needed Help.

Claremont, Oct. 27.—Frank Moore, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Elizabeth Moore of Broad street, was rescued by Albert G. Campbell from drowning in Sugar river tonight. Mr. Campbell was passing the Broad street bridge when he heard a cry for help and throwing off his raincoat and hat jumped over the stone wall twenty feet to the water. The boy had gone down out of sight. Mr. Campbell dove for him and grabbed him by the hair, and after coming to the surface was carried to within twelve feet of the dam by the strong current, when O. M. Cardiff reached out of the penstock house window and grabbed Campbell's hand, who was half within ten feet of the dam. Had the pair gone over the dam both would have gone to their death.

The boy was passed up through the window apparently dead, and Campbell was just able to crawl in. After half an hour's labor on the boy he was resuscitated and taken home. Campbell was cared for at Cardiff's house.

The boy later said that he went up the river and got into a boat, but when he saw that the current was taking him over the dam he jumped out and called for help.

Campbell, the rescuer, comes from Windsor, Vt., and is visiting in this place. He is a native of Waterbury, Vt.

REAR ADMIRAL EDWARDS ON SCIENTIFIC MANAGEMENT

The following article from Capt. John Edwards, a former Engineer officer at the Portsmouth navy yard entitled "An Attack on Scientific Management" will be read with much interest by navy yard men of all classes.

So much has been said in behalf of the scientific management, especially by the advocates of the system in its relation to the operation of government plants, that special interest attaches to comment on the other side of the question appearing in an article contributed to the Journal of the American Society of Naval Engineers by Rear Admiral John R. Edwards U. S. N. under the title of "The Petischnism of Scientific Management." The author was for several years head of the steam engineering department at a navy yard for three years inspector of machinery at William

Cranu and Sons' Ship and Engine Building Co. and for the past year has been general inspector of machinery for naval vessels building on the Atlantic coast. This varied experience has given him considerable opportunity to observe the various systems of management and to discuss them with experts having practical knowledge of the subject.

The subject is discussed with a thoroughness and candor which might be expected from such an officer, who has fortified his views by consultation with numerous technical experts and executive officials. He comes to the conclusion that scientific management falls far short of what is claimed in its behalf by its advocates. It is interesting therefore to know upon what grounds there may be objection to scientific management. One of the first objections voiced by Rear Admiral Edwards, is the exceedingly costly installation with the fact that scientific management attaches to little value to the humanity of labor.

The relation of employer and employee is placed in jeopardy. Since it is claimed there is a discredit of labor to an inordinate degree by the impetuousness of its integrity. There is set a daily task of such character as is beyond the capacity of the ordinary workman. On this subject Rear Admiral Edwards remarks: "It seems respects the most objectionable feature of the introduction of the system of scientific management is the lack of confidence and respect which it breeds between capital and labor. It is hammered into the employer that soldiering and loafing is the general rule upon the part of the workmen, while the employee is told that inefficient and wasteful methods of management prevail everywhere. The first impression that the ordinary manager would form upon reading one of the standard books is the general lack of efficiency, loyalty and zeal upon the part of those in his employ."

It is asserted that the system arouses the resentment of shop superintendents, and administrative officials "by the tactics manager which it attempts to change and control existing shop methods and business management." There is moreover, a demand for increased staff of planners and shop foremen, against which fact it is asserted that the labor market is already short of competent quartermen and subforemen. The exploitation of system is to such a degree that it becomes a hindrance rather than a help to efficient management and industrial development.

Rear Admiral Edwards believes that the system will work with special detriment to repair work, since there is a tendency to discourage the mechanic from any inclination to exercise resourcefulness and to devise improvements for permanently overcoming any inherent defects of design or construction. It is a well known fact that for repair work concentrated effort and sense of personal responsibility often results in effecting important changes of both arrangement and design. The effort to repress such resourcefulness upon the part of the individual and the inclination to cast all inventive effort upon management is not in line with engineering advance; it partakes more of the nature of retrogression. "The spectacular promise and startling deductions" adds Admiral Edwards seem to be the general rule in exploiting the system and telling of its operation. Actual and permanent results and not promises and deductions are the factors which determine real efficiency. In the practical operation of the system it is the exact opposite of the fancy of the enthusiasts have materialized into substantial improvements, which measured either from the standpoint of net profits or the humane operation of mechanical activities.

Rear Admiral Edwards warns against a too ready endorsement of the system on the part of municipal state, or naval authorities, mainly on account of the deep seated opposition the skepticism, is not hostility, of the individual interests. Least of all would he have the system implanted too securely in the navy. On this subject Rear Admiral Edwards remarks:

It has been the combination of patient investigation, systematic engineering training, and directive ability of its commissioned personnel that has given the American navy its distinguishing lead in fire control, turret efficiency and engineering accomplishments. Scientific management as expounded by its advocates would have nullified in great part this remarkable development of engineering and ordnance advance.

If measured by the results produced, the existing managements of our navy yards ought to be regarded as highly satisfactory. Their efficiency has been shown by the satisfactory performances of the battleships that have been repaired at the various naval stations.

The continued control and detailed management of the navy yards by the commissioned personnel is of the utmost importance to the efficiency of the fleet and to the good of the nation. These naval stations are more than important military adjuncts; they are for the great majority of the commissioned personnel, the only post graduate schools of instruction available whereby the officers are enabled to obtain that detail knowledge of the design, manufacture, and installation of navy appliances which must be acquired by those to whom the honor and safety of the nation is entrusted on the high seas.

An article of this sort from the point of view of a critic who is an expert is of interest and importance in the discussion of a most important subject—Army and Navy Register.

WINTER DAIRY SCHOOL NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE.

The Eighteenth Annual Dairy School at New Hampshire College opens Tuesday, Jan. 2, and closes Friday, March 7. The school offers instruction in dairy farming, in the handling of market milk, and in creamery and farm butter-making. This course includes a study of such subjects as the growing of profitable crops for dairy cattle, the judging, feeding and breeding of dairy cattle and a study of factors influencing the quality of milk from the time it leaves the cow until it reaches the consumer. A study is made of surrounding dairies giving practice in the use of the score card in dairy inspection.

The dairy department conducts a commercial creamery throughout the year. Milk and cream are received from over fifty farms assuming sufficient material for practice and demonstration work. The practical work in milk testing, milk inspection, and in the farm dairy and in the creamery offers valuable training and experience for men who desire to take up commercial dairy work in milk plants, creameries or as dairy of milk inspectors.

Address Dairy Department, New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H. for regards to cost and instruction about the Dairy School.

A SPEAKING CLOCK

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—The Kaiser took great pride in exhibiting a speaking clock to some friends the other night. Timing himself exactly, he let them into a dark room and said suddenly "I wonder what time it is?" Before anyone could answer, the speaking clock replied: "Three quarters of eight." At the same moment the Emperor turned on the electric light, and the astonished company beheld the clock in the act of conversation. The clock was made by a Berlin inventor and tells the time, hours, half-hours and quarters of hours in a clear voice. If you don't want it to talk to you, during your night's rest for instance, the voice can be switched off for a stated number of hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Manning of Manchester, passed Sunday the guest of friends here.

GRAND OFFICERS HERE FOR FUNERAL SERVICES

The funeral of Lamont Hilton was held on Sunday afternoon from his home on South streets at 2 o'clock. There was a large attendance in fact more than the house would hold and many had to remain on the outside during the services.

Rev. William P. Stanley of the Middle street Baptist church read the services and a male quartette rendered the following numbers, "One Sweetly Solenn Thought," "Beautiful Isles of Somewhere," "Still, Still with Thee," Osgood Lodge No. 42 Noble Grand; William Mason, Chaplain John Yeaton and Past Grand Josiah M. Varrell and Charles H. Kehoe held the Odd Fellows Services and the St. Andrews Lodge A. F. and A. M. held the Masonic services at the grave.

There were delegates present from Osgood Lodge, I. O. O. F., Canton Center, and Strawberry Bank Encampment, Union Rebekah Lodge and Alpha Council R. A.

There were many of the grand officers of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows present the deceased having been a Past Grand Master. They were Grand Master F. M. Beckford of Lancaster, Past Grand Masters, George E. Danford, Manchester, Grand Secretary Frank L. Way Manchester, Grand Representative Charles S. Emerson of Milford, Past Grand Masters William E. Felch, Manchester, C. E. Cannon Dover, Clarence Hurd, Dover, John A. Gidden, Dover Grand Treasurer, W. C. Cotton of this city past Grand Master C. F. Hutchins of Charleston, N. H. The body bearers were Messrs. Charles H. Kehoe and J. M. Varrell of Osgood Lodge, J. N. Rogg and E. J. Littlefield, Strawberry Bank, Captain Clarence Chick and Lieut. D. H. McIntosh of Canton Center P. M., and the honorary pallbearers were the grand officers.

Interment was in the family lot in the Newington cemetery and undertaker O. W. Ham was in charge. The floral tributes were very handsome and they include many magnificent pieces from the various Odd Fellow lodges and the other societies as well as many from friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Robertson Jr., and daughter Nattie, returned on Saturday, from a western trip as far as Kansas City.

Fortunate for the People.

It is certainly a matter for congratulation to the American people that there is a man, possessed of poise and patience in the presidential chair like William Howard Taft.

The Mexican situation has been a perplexing one. It has compelled the most serious thought and consideration upon the part of the men in charge of affairs at Washington. If ever a great power has displayed a patience that reaches the extreme limit of endurance that government is the United States in its dealings with Mexico. Outrages have been committed against both the lives of American citizens and against the property interests of this country. The disorder and revolution that have been going on in Mexico have been a source of death and property destruction and loss of trade to the people north of the Rio Grande that reaches into heavy totals.

President Taft has clearly and insistently demonstrated to Mexico and all Latin South America, as well as to the rest of the world, that this country has no disposition to take advantage of the weakness of any other country and override the rights of other republics simply because it has the power and strength to do so.

The people of the country have a right to feel proud of the fact that a man of high character and sound judgment, like Taft, is at the head of the government. It can easily be imagined what the result would have been of this commotion in the nation to the south of us if there had been a hot-headed, impetuous president in the White House. The Americans would have been chasing Mexicans over every hill and down every little valley in Old Mexico.—Manchester Mirror.

Taft Gains, Roosevelt Loses.

As Colonel Roosevelt loses ground, President Taft must gain in proportion. He ought to draw to himself all those who have heretofore been of the opinion that the most effective and perhaps the only way to defeat Roosevelt was to stand by Wilson. Everyone familiar with the trend of discussion know of many who hold that President Taft has been a good president and deserves re-election, but have proclaimed their intentions of voting for Wilson for the reasons we have indicated. These voters, either republicans or independents, have now every encouragement for returning to their logical position, for certainly reports all indicate that Roosevelt is not drawing a support which either promises his election or promises that he will hold the balance of power. Therefore the argument that a vote for Wilson is expedient does not maintain itself. A vote for Taft is a vote for Taft and the success of the republican party. A vote for Wilson cast by a republican could never be construed as other than a vote to give democracy control of the nation.—Boston Transcript.

The New York Sun remarks that discussing the ever attractive topic of heroism, the late William James said that "not in charging fights and desperate marches only is heroism to be looked for, but on every railway bridge and fireproof building that is going up today." Prof. James went on to say that "the demand for courage is incessant and the supply never fails." In the quiet walks of life it is the same. There was something truly if not picturesquely heroic about the readiness of the lane newsboy, William Pugh of Gary, Ind., who, although warned that the sacrifice might prove fatal, as it did, allowed his leg to be cut off so that the skin could be used in a grafting operation upon the body of a young girl burned in a gasoline explosion. "What's the odds," said the newsboy, "if it will save her life." And he gave his.

The New York Evening Sun states that the old idea that war in one part of the world helped business in other parts cannot stand enlightened examination. War is waste, both of life and wealth. It is one of the world's great scourges and must give way, in the end, to the arbitrament of reason and humanity. We will come to the time, and that not far off, when mankind will be organized for peace and not for war. That great business of all nations accepts this view of the ultimate solution of one of humanity's apparently insoluble and age-long problems is truly inspiring and encouraging.

The Topeka Journal remarks that nearly a half-million dollars in cold cash was taken in at the eight games that were played to decide the baseball championship for this year. That doesn't make much of a noise like the people generally in the eastern section of the country are in the throes of particularly hard times.

British Battleship Iron Duke, With Upper Deck Armored Against Attack of Airships.

The Iron Duke, which was launched recently, is the first of the four battleships provided for in the 1911 British program and is to be ready for commission by January, 1914. She will have a displacement of 25,000 tons and a speed of twenty-two knots. Her engines will be of the Parsons turbine type and will burn oil fuel as well as coal. She will carry ten 13.5 inch guns mounted two together in barbettes and arranged so as to give full broadside of the ship. Her upper deck is specially armored against attack of airships. The picture shows the Iron Duke leaving the slip after being christened by the Duchess of Wellington.

LITERARY NOTES

The November Woman's Home Companion.

Woodrow Wilson, democratic candidate for the presidency, contributes to the November Woman's Home Companion an interesting article which is really a message to women. In it he develops the idea that those with whom we entrust our government at Washington ought, as he expresses it, to "keep house" for the whole people. Our revenues, he says, should not be put at the disposal of a governing class or of any limited set of governing influences. As he goes along Mr. Wilson illustrates his points with specific suggestions.

Mr. S. Seymour Toms made the picture of Governor Wilson for the cover. It is a study he made for his own use in painting a portrait of the governor which is not yet finished. Only three people—the governor, Mrs. Wilson, and the governor's sister—had ever seen this study before The Companion acquired it. Mr. Toms said that Mrs. Wilson thought it the best portrait of the governor which she had ever seen.

The November Companion contains many other entertaining special articles, among which are: "Women of the Campaign"; "The Girl in the Small Town"; "A Successful Stepmother"; "A Patient's Account of Days in the Hospital"; and "The Training of a Child."

Fiction is contributed by Justus Miles Forman, Kathleen Norris, Isabel Gordon Curtis, Beulah Marie Dix, Ward Muir and others.

The November American Magazine.

David Grayson, author of "Adventures in Contentment," returns to the November American Magazine with a new series entitled "Adventures on the Friendly Road." The first adventure is entitled "I Leave My Farm."

In the same number of The American Magazine is a symposium entitled "The Progressive Dilemma," which is made up of five short articles by Jane Adams, Herbert Quick, Senator Charles E. Townsend, Victor L. Berger and Herbert Croly, in which each explains the reasons for his political preferences this fall.

Other notable articles in the number are: "The Express Bonanza," by Albert W. Atwood, who reveals the clumsiness of the methods used by the express companies as compared with those used in the postoffice department; "The Earning Power of Population," in which the author shows how each new baby born in New York increases the value of real estate in the metropolis by $30; "If at Last You Don't Succeed Join a New Party," a comical piece by Kin Hubbard; "The Ruminations of a Rhinoceros," being a description of the habits of a rhinoceros by Stewart Edward White; and "The Drama of Wages," a collection of romantic, tragic and funny stories gathered from working people.

Aside from the regular departments, which are full of good reading and interesting pictures, there is fiction by Edgar Wallace, Edith Bradward Belmont, John Fleming Wilson and R. E. MacFarlane.

EVOLUTION.

Men used to laugh at telephones, And called them idle toys. They railed in rude sarcastic tones At things the world employs. To meet its constant needs today. Yet nature does not change. We still salute with laughter gay Each proposition strange.

They laughed to hear the world was round; They laughed at talk of steam; The airship once the public found A vastly humorous dream. So as we glance about the earth, Where marvels rise anew, We find the things of greatest worth Are jokes that have come true. —Washington Star.

Services at the Second Christian church on Sunday were of unusual interest. A very able sermon was given at 10.30 by the pastor, Rev. Arnold Natino, a solo, "Beautiful Isle of the Somewhere," was effectively sung by the choir.

A. L. Sprague. At the Sunday school, which was well attended, the pastor conducted a young men's class for the first time. It is hoped that other men will avail themselves of the privilege of joining the class. At 6 o'clock the C. B. meeting was held as usual and another fine sermon at 7, with a solo, and chorus choir finished the day's work.

Miss Inez J. Remick returned on Thursday from a two weeks' visit with her cousins Mr. and Mrs. Gowen Brooks of Washington, D. C.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M church will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Wallace Manson of Maple Avenue.

Mrs. Ethel Nelson and son were visitors in New Castle Sunday.

Bernard Dixon left on Wednesday.

Use Cottolene for cooking

When you shorten or fry your food with butter it is needless extravagance. Butter is too expensive for use anywhere but on your table. If butter were really better, would produce better results in cooking, you would be justified in using it, but it won't. Cottolene is fully the equal of butter for shortening; it is better for frying. It makes food rich, but not greasy, because it heats to a higher temperature than lard or butter, and cooks so quickly that the fat has no chance to "soak in." Cottolene is more healthful than lard, and you only need to use two-thirds as much as you would of either butter or lard.

When you stop to consider that the price of Cottolene is no more than the price of lard you can readily figure out what a saving its use in your kitchen means.

"PROGRESSIVE!"

Rev. Dr. Thayer's discourse at the North church Sunday evening had for its topic "The Religious Aspects of the Progressive Movement." "Progressive" is the slogan of the present age, particularly as it applies to the claims of the several political parties who are engaged in the conflict for national and state supremacy. The republicans, the democrats, the self-styled "progressives," the socialists, the prohibitionists alike make their appeals to the voter on the ground that they are each the most "progressive" party, and the party that succeeds in convincing the voter that it leads in the line of progress will catch him, as a general thing. This is an age of progress and the man who lags will be "left." The line of the discourse of Rev. Dr. Thayer led with excellent success past and over the dangerous ground of political preaching and applied its force to the general idea of progress as applied to the religious world, the advances that are being made and the constant tendency towards improvement in thought and methods.

It was an attractive subject and an interesting address, and there was a larger audience than usually attends the Sunday evening services. The sentiment of the evening was finely expressed in the selection of the closing hymn: "Our God is marching on!"

A very natural suggestion which comes from another citizen, but which was not made in the sermon, was the comparison of the Taft republican and the Roosevelt "new party."

Which is the really progressive party? The republicans have done good work in the advances which the past sixty years have required of it; and it proposes to continue to advance and meet all the requirements of the march of progression. But here comes in what is considered by the great body of the republican party as a very useless faction—a party that sprung into existence in a single moment, made simply to suit the whims and conveniences of one man, who out of nothing but his own inventive genius constructed what they term a "new party," which bears upon its shield nothing but has not been upon the shield of the republican party in all these years. When is the "progress" of that new party? It has nothing to progress from! It has simply grown up like a weed in a garden bed, and the more you cultivate it the worse it will be for the garden.

There are some very pretty weeds that look well but are out of place. Our garden is the whole of our country and we cannot afford to let any weed grow in it. The weed will have something it may call progress if you give it any encouragement. It has sprung up among the admirable flowers of the republican bed. It came from nothing, and it may grow, but it cannot progress, for it will always be a weed. The sooner the republican party comes to its senses and plucks it, the better it will be for the garden.

Then, again, there is a great difference between progression and revolution. The republican party progresses. The Roosevelt party is revolutionary. The latter has no new political ideas; its object seems to be only the overthrow of the old party, and to seize upon its policy without adding an iota to the principles which it advocates. Colonel Roosevelt wants to defeat President Taft; that is about the whole story. The republican platform is based upon the constitution and the best interests of our country as the majority of the people of the United States understand them. To revolutionize without any improvement is far from being progressive.

CALLED AS PASTOR OF UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

Rev. George Boorn of Rochester, Vt., Gets Call After One Trial Service--Will Accept.

Rev. George Boorn of Rochester, Vermont, has been called as pastor of the Universalist church and it is understood that he will accept. Rev. Mr. Boorn is a young unmarried man who has been preaching for only a few years but he gives promise of being an excellent man. He has practically accepted the call and he will assume charge at some date to be decided at a later meeting.

GUILTY PLEA REFUSED.

Winfred Glidden Arranged on Charge
of Shooting Deputy Sheriff at Farming, N. H.

FARMINGTON, N. H., Oct. 27.—Winfred Glidden who, while crazed by illness, shot in the forehead Deputy Sheriff Herman J. Pike, after attempting to kill him, was arraigned before Judge John Waldron in the Police Court Saturday, charged with shooting with intent to kill Deputy Pike.
Glidden was without counsel and pleaded guilty. County Solicitor Geo.
T. Hughes of Dover moved, however, that a plea of not guilty be entered, and the court so ordered.
Owing to the condition of Deputy Sheriff Pike, who was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, the case was continued for a hearing until Nov. 8. Glidden was held without bail and was committed to the Stratford County Jail at Dover.
Glidden's age is 23.

Mrs. Varney is in the care of a physician Saturday removed particles of burned powder from her face.
Last night Deputy Pike was reported as resting as comfortably as could be expected.

THE RUSH OF CLOSING TIME.

Every night in many offices there is
a mad rush just before closing time.
This means that some time during the day these very "rushers" have been loafing. It also means confusion, multiplicity of errors and carelessness in many directions. The correspondents
all get busy and sign letters at the same time. The stenographers rush and hurry at the end of the day's work, the mail boys throw the letters
around in their mad desire to get out.
Letters are signed without careful reading, signatures are careless and in a dozen different ways the firm suffers
for this hurry-burry.

Recently an office manager made up his mind that this sort of thing costs
money, and that the final effort was 99
for three years and the figures must

per cent. waste. He established a rule that four times every day stenographers should deliver all the letters they had written to the desks of correspondents. A certain hour was fixed for this. Thirty minutes after this hour the mail boys were instructed to go to each correspondent and get his letters, fold and mail them at once. If a correspondent had no letters to hand
to the boy it was because he had not allowed the rule, and as a schedule
was kept of the number of letters received on each collection from each correspondent, it was easy to trace
those who did not obey the rule.

Within a very short time the rush at the end of the day disappeared. Everybody was busy during the day, but no one hurried. The number of letters coming back for better directions, those placed in the wrong envelopes and all of the rest of the tribe of inexcusable
but embarrassing mistakes were reduced to such a small percentage that an error caused comment. System in his little detail saved dollars and increased efficiency all along the line.

TYRUS COBB TO ENTER INTO BUSINESS.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb is considering deserting the diamond to become a broker. Unless the Detroit management leaders the "Georgia Peach"
a three years' contract calling for a yearly salary of $15,000 he will accept an offer to become a member of one of the largest banking and brokerage firms in Wall Street, New York.

These statements are made upon the best of authority. Cobb recently confided his intentions to a close friend of his in this city, Cobb said that he would take definite action before Thanksgiving and that he had every reason to believe that that action would be quitting base ball.

Cobb's contract with the Detroit Tigers expired Oct. 15. It had been made three years ago and called for an annual stipend of $9,000. Cobb notified Pres. Frank J. Navin in Detroit
this week that he desired a contract
money, and that the final effort was 99
for three years and the figures must

be $15,000 per season, or $45,000 for the full period.
Cobb was raised in the cotton belt
and knows the cotton business as well
as any of them.

WORRY DESTROYS HEALTH

Mental strain undermines health
probably more rapidly and destructively than physical disease. Observe how long it takes a man or woman to recover from a case of nervous prostration.
See what a complete breakdown often follows even a short period of intense mental strain. The reason is this: In the case of disease
its ravages are promptly observed and suitable remedies applied. Mental strain, however, slowly consumes the reserve vitality until, finally when a breakdown occurs there is no reserve
strength upon which nature can draw. People who worry under severe mental strain, require suitable nourishment to create immediate energy and build reserve force; nourishment that will be promptly converted into strength, and above all,
good cheer and happy thoughts. If people so afflicted would first disabuse
their minds of confusing thoughts,
cultivate cheerfulness and take Scott's Emulsion after meals, their immediate improvement would be an agreeable surprise. Being essentially a food, Scott's Emulsion is absorbed by the body as such, and appropriated by nature to nourish the nerve centers,
enrich the blood corpuscles and build reserve force. It contains no habit-forming drug or alcohol, and its nourishing, curative benefits are apparant
almost from the first day.

TO TEST NAVY WIRELESS.

Attempts Will Be Made to Communicate With Key West and Colon Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Officials of the new Navy wireless station at Arlington, opposite this city, on the Virginia side of the Potomac River, will be made Monday night. Efforts then will be made to communicate with the wireless stations at Key West, about 1000 miles distance, and with Colon
Panama, which is about 1000 miles away.

The Arlington station, at present
the most powerful in the world, one of its three iron towers being more than 500 feet in height, is to be supplemented by a series of stations which will enable the navy to communicate between its own offices considerably
more than halfway around the world.
In Panama, on the Pacific Coast; in Hawaii, Guam and Samoa, and in the Philippines wireless stations are contemplated, each capable of sending
and receiving messages over a distance of 3000 miles. The Arlington station, it is estimated, will be able to send
that distance.

PRESIDENT SEES VICTORY AT POLLS

Trusts Sober Judgment of the Voters to Continue Present Conditions--Expects Democratic Help

THE THIRD PARTY CAN'T WIN

Mr. Taft Says It's Open Secret That Progressives Do Not Expect Success and That Every Mail Tells of Wanderers' Return.

Beverly, Mass.—President Taft issued a statement predicting Republican victory next month, and declaring
it "obvious that either the Republican or Democratic nominees will be elected." He asserts it to be an open secret that "the third party does not expect success."

The President reviews business conditions of the country, which, he says, are unprecedentedly prosperous,
and asserts the belief that the sober
judgment of the voters will continue
present conditions.

President Taft says that from all parts of the country assurances are coming that Democrats intend to vote for the Republican candidates and a continuance of prosperity and against
the programme of economic confusion
and socialistic subversion of American institutions supported by Democratic candidates and their allies. He calls attention to the great progress of the country since 1880 as regards the home and foreign markets, and says that the American manufacturer and worker would not have much spirit
left for invading the foreign market if
deprived by a Democratic tariff for
revenue only of the home market,
which they now control, thanks to the Republican protective tariff.

The President's Statement.

The President's statement follows:
"Fifty-two years ago seceders from the Union thought they were facing a divided North and would win an easy victory. There had been division
among the loyal people, but all united in face of the common danger, and in addition a great number of Democrats
joined the Republicans in the successful struggle for the nation's life. Then it was said by hostile critics that the ship of state was drifting. It drifted—
yes—with Lincoln at the helm, from the reefs of secession and slavery into
the placid waters of union and liberty.
Under Lincoln's successors it has sailed
on, propelled by the winds of prosperity, save when its voyage has been halted by just such a visitation of storm and stress, of torn protection
rails and broken business bulwarks,
as we are now threatened with, should Democratic supplant Chicago, which it did not in 1860, and will not in 1912."

"Our friends the enemy say that the Democracy has learned its mistakes and does not mean to repeat them. In some measure true as to the past; and the Republican party has had a difficult, if successful task, in teaching
the Democracy its mistakes, so far as it has been taught; but somehow the obstinate pupil comes forward every four years to be taught again.

"I am glad to say, however," the President added, "that many Democrats have learned their lessons well,
and are refusing to leave the firm
ground of national prosperity for the quagmire of business disruption, trade
depression and commercial and industrial depletion."

"From all parts of the country assurances are coming that Democrats intend to vote for the Republican candidates and a continuance of prosperous business conditions, and against
the programme of economic confusion
and socialistic subversion of our institutions supported by the Democratic candidates and their allies. Democratic workmen refuse to be led from the factory and good wages of 1912
back to the Democratic hard times of 1893-97. They prefer independence and money in the savings bank to loss
of employment and dependence on charity."

Pay Envelopes Feeders of Trade.
"Democratic business men feel the same way. They know that when industries languish their business languishes, too. They pay envelopes are the feeders of trade in every form.
When they are empty or scrippily the biggest department store feels the effect as well as the corner grocery."

President Taft continued:
"Drifting? Well, let me glance at some of the drift. Our home market has drifted from $7,000,000,000 in 1870
to $33,000,000,000—not a bad drift,
that. And it is this magnificent home market, without equal in the past or present, that the Democrats propose to dismember and disorganize, and invite every nation in the world to prey
upon, while those same nations keep the barriers to their own markets just
as high as they please."

"Then look at our foreign trade. A favorite Democratic argument is that Republicans build up and cultivate the home market at the expense of our foreign commerce, when the fact is that the growth of foreign trade has almost kept proportionate pace with the domestic—from $1,000,000,000 in 1870 to $4,000,000,000 in 1912.
"Our exports for the past year amounted to $2,170,819,328, of which $674,392,908 were manufactures ready for consumption, the largest export trade and the largest proportion of

manufactures ready for consumption
the country has ever known.

Change Would Cost Home Market.
"The American manufacturer and the American worker," President Taft declared, "would not have much spirit
left for invading the foreign market if
deprived by a Democratic tariff for
revenue only of the best market of all,
more than equal in purchasing power
to all Europe, the home market, which they now control, thanks to the Republican protective tariff."

The statement goes on to say:
"German foreign commerce is also making great advances, particularly among our neighbors of South America, but a suggestion that Germany
should, for that reason, take protection out of its tariff would probably be received with arching of eyebrows by German statesmen and economists."

"And this unprecedented growth of our foreign trade is accompanied by expansion as unprecedented in our home trade from one end of the country to the other—the Atlantic to the Pacific, the St. Lawrence to the Rio Grande. It is not a sudden inflation,
but a gradual advance under favorable
conditions from the prostration of 1907
to prosperity as substantial as it is general."

"All industries are humming and
there is work at good wages—princely,
compared with wages abroad—for all who are willing to work, while in the Pittsburgh district, alone, I understand, there is a demand for at least thirty thousand workers in excess of the number available. Business, wholesale and retail, is active and profitable,
for the people have money with which to buy. The question for the American voter is whether this condition
shall continue, and the nation shall go forward to even greater prosperity."

"The farmers are enjoying the greatest prosperity in the experience of American agriculture. Every day
the Northern Pacific is carrying a million bushels of grain to Duluth. The yield in that zone alone is 127,000,000 bushels, so that the conveyance by the railway of the farmers' grain from the region tributary to the Northern Pacific
to that point of distribution will require 167 days. This vast crop is worth
in excess of $100,000,000 to the farmers producing it."

"At the present the steel industry,
commonly regarded as the barometer
of business, is driven far ahead for steel rails. Other industries are equally active, and altogether national conditions and prospects were never so prosperous and promising, provided
the American people decide to apply
to their political choice the same good judgment and prudent foresight which they apply, as a rule, to their personal affairs."

"As we come nearer the day of election," says Mr. Taft, "it is to be expected that the intelligent voter will appreciate more keenly the responsibility which attaches to his ballot. In national elections, at least, the great majority like to feel that they are voting for a candidate who has a chance of success. It is obvious that either the Republican or the Democratic nominees will be elected, and not to vote for the Republican candidates is,
in effect, to support their Democratic opponents and the Democratic platform of a 'tariff for revenue' only,
freighted with dire consequences for
the country, now busy and prosperous
under Republican rule. It is well known to every one, an open secret on every street corner, that the Third Term party does not expect success."

The President continues:
"A special correspondent of 'The
New York Evening Post,' writing from Chicago, says: 'It may be said that neither Colonel Roosevelt nor any of the experienced politicians who surround him expects to carry Illinois or any other important state, with the possible exception of California and Kansas. From sources close to the candidate it is learned that Colonel Roosevelt will be satisfied if he can complete the demoralization of the Republican party.'

"It remains to be seen how many Republicans are willing to assist in completing the demoralization of the Republican party and handing the reins of government over to the Democrats to gratify mere desire for revenge."

"I believe that the Republican party
will be found, as a whole," President Taft concluded, "too patriotic, too loyal
to its principles and its traditions,
too just in its attitude toward public servants whom it has intrusted with duties faithfully performed to commit harm-karl in the form and for the objects indicated. Every mail brings assurances that those who have strayed
are returning to the fold, and that in every state in which the Republican party is not disfranchised old-time majorities will be rolled up for the Republican candidates."

Governor Johnson's progressive administration of California has cost the State during its first year a million and a half more than the last year of the previous administration cost, and it is asserted that the holders of the many new jobs created are required
"voluntarily" to contribute ten per cent of their pay to the Roosevelt-Johnson campaign sack.

Nearly four years of honest, wise,
efficient and economical Republican administration in national affairs has produced a condition where presidential politics has ceased to be a disturbance factor in the economic life of the nation. Still there are those who are clamoring for a change for the purpose of altering our scheme of government.

The matter with Kansas just now
seems to be an overdose of sick politics. Indications are that Kansas will reject the dose.

MAKE HOMES PRETTIER

GOOD IDEA SOMETIMES TO TRY NEW EFFECTS.

Change in Arrangement of Furniture
Frequently Will Work Wonders—
"Primitives" Something That Should be Avoided.

We will soon be putting our houses
in order for the winter, and many of us are wishing we could achieve
some new effects or make our homes prettier than they were last season, writes Barbara Boyd in the Chicago Evening Post. But as we are going to use exactly the same furnishings, we feel rather hopeless as to securing any new or better results.

But we may be able to work quite a transformation simply by a change in arrangement. An interior decorator of repute has been talking lately upon the value of lines. He says no room will look its best if the lines of the furnishings all go the same way. This does not mean they should go "every which way," as old-time housekeepers used to say. But monotony should be broken.

A room in which every piece of furniture is arranged primly around the four walls will look better if a sofa
is placed diagonally across a corner,
or a table set at right angles to the other pieces of furniture.

Then every room ought to have a center of some sort. If there is a fireplace, this naturally becomes the central point. Easy chairs are grouped about it, a table with a reading
lamp, possibly a davenport.

But if there is no fireplace, and in most houses there is none, some point
or some object should be made the center. It may be a desk, a table, the piano, the sofa. But easy chairs
should be placed near and a reading light handy. Such a center gives a room a homelike, sociable air.

Then, too, the housekeeper who wishes to give her home a different
air this fall may do so by regrouping some of the furnishings. Perhaps she can get a more harmonious color scheme by changing about some of the little fixings, such as sofa cushions,
stand covers, small rugs, portieres,
vases and bric-a-brac. Or she may secure a much better effect by regrouping some of her pictures. And it is just possible she may make her rooms far more harmonious and artistic by omitting altogether some of the furnishings. There may be some that jar, that do not fit into the furnishing scheme of any room. These may be the very things that have caused the dissatisfaction she has felt without exactly knowing what was the matter. Or the rooms may be overcrowded, and this may be the cause of the home's not looking as artistic and restful as she wishes.

Why not experiment along these lines when putting the house in order
this fall? You may be able thereby to effect some changes, that will be a delight to you all winter.

Ham Cakes.

Take pieces of boiled ham or smoked shoulder and chop fine. Boil potatoes and mash or use cold potatoes
and chop. Take two-thirds of potatoes to one-third meat. Add one or two eggs (beaten), enough to make it the right consistency to shape into round flat cakes. If too moist, add a little flour. Fry in hot fat after dredging them with flour. Should be seasoned
to suit taste with salt and pepper.
Fish cakes, made in the same way,
are very nice. This is a good way to use up pieces of meat or fish. Most all working men like them for their midday luncheon.

Peach Mound.

Pare and quarter or cut in eighths
six ripe, soft peaches; soak half a box
of gelatin in one pint of milk over the fire, and when it boils add one cupful of sugar and the well-beaten yolks of four eggs; stir thoroughly until it begins to thicken, then remove from the fire; add one pint of cream whipped
very light and flavor with lemon.
While yet a little warm, put the fruit
and cream alternately in a wet mold,
having a layer of cream at both the top and bottom. Set on ice or in a cold place from four to six hours and serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Mock Angel Food Cake.

Put one cup sweet milk in a pan and heat to a boiling point. Put one cup flour, one cup of sugar, three teaspoon-fuls of baking powder in a pan and stir four times. Have the whites of two eggs beaten stiff, then add the hot milk, a very little salt, and one teaspoon of vanilla; beat one minute,
then fold the whites of eggs in very gently. Do not stir, fold in by drawing the spoon through the mixture. Butter a pan with fresh butter and bake
in a moderate oven.

Kidney Stew.

Take kidneys and wash, then put on stove, cook slowly, then when almost done cut into small pieces, put through a food chopper and add salt, pepper and make a gravy. This is fine served on toast. Kidneys make delicious stew.
Cook and add onions and five or six potatoes. Thickened with a little flour.
They are very nice fried, but the stew
cannot be excelled.

Cheese Biscuit.

Make a biscuit dough, roll out half an inch thick. Sprinkle with grated cheese, season with salt and pepper
and bits of butter; roll up jelly cake
fashion, cut slices from end and bake
in a quick oven. Serve hot.

SEA SERPENT REAL

Hiram Maxim Is Firm Believer in Monster.

Famous Scientist and Inventor Thinks Time Has Come When Monstrous Creatures Should Be Credited—Two Kinds Seen.

London.—Sir Hiram Maxim is a firm believer in the sea serpent. The other day he gave out this interview: "I think the time has arrived when we must submit that there are certain large animals living in the sea that are not described in any works on natural history. Messrs. C. A. Nichols & Co., Springfield, Mass., published in 1882 a very remarkable work. In this I find that in 1851, and for some years following, the sea serpent, or sea serpents, appeared very often off the New England coast.

"It appears that there were two kinds of these monsters. On one occasion the animal that was seen had a fishlike head, very large eyes, gills, and a continuous fin extending the whole length of its back, supported by numerous spines, after the manner of a stickleback. It was simply a very large fish of an unknown variety.

"The monster that was seen a great number of times by numerous people had a body from eighty to ninety feet long, and about the diameter of a large cask, with a head closely resembling that of a snake.

"According to these witnesses, the monster was from eighty to ninety feet long, his head usually carried about two feet above the water; of a dark brown color, the body with thirty or more protuberances, compared by some to four-gallon kegs, by others to a string of buoys, and called by several persons bunches on the back; motion very rapid, faster than that of a whale, swimming a mile in three minutes, and sometimes more, leaving a wake behind him; chasing mackerel, herrings, and other fish, which were soon jumping out of the water fifty at a time as he approached."

"It has been suggested that this creature is a mammal. If so, it would have warm blood, and would have to breathe at least as often as a whale, but as it remains below the water for days and weeks at a time, it is safe to say that it has cold blood, and is probably some kind of a snake."

CHICAGO WOMEN NOW CHEW

Kansas City Girls Also Have Passed the Cigar Habit—Use Popular Brands.

St. Louis.—Kansas City and Chicago women who have taken up the cigar smoking habit are novices in the nicotine line, according to local tobaccoists. The women in this city according to the same authorities have passed the cigar stage, and are now going in for chewing.

"We're 1 to give you the names of several of the West End women and girls to whom we sell tobacco as regularly as we do to any of our men customers you would be tempted to discredit me," one dealer said.

"Do you have to carry a particularly mild brand of chewing tobacco for the women users of the weed?"

"No, indeed, the women folk can gnaw off a chew from a plug of any of the popular brands, and do it in a businesslike way."

Young Brown charges that on several occasions Weissberger placed him in a huge refrigerator thereby greatly frightening him and finally resulting in his prostration.

The petition states Weissberger threatened bodily harm to Brown should he tell of his enforced imprisonment.

Telephone Company Appeals Service Case to Supreme Court of United States.

Little Rock, Ark.—Having lost once in the circuit court and twice in the Arkansas supreme court, the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone company has appealed to the Supreme court of the United States in a suit originally involving only four dollars.

It was for rent for two months' telephone service. The case presents some unique features, having been in the local courts for the last four years. It involves the question of penalty for non-service and the constitutional validity of the statute of 1885 is involved.

CHUTNEY AT ITS BEST

MANY INGREDIENTS GO TO FORM DELICIOUS DISH.

Mixture Really Is Largely a Matter of Individual Taste, Though Some Staple Fruits Will Have to Be Included.

Delicious Sweet Chutney—Twelve apples, three bananas, three pears (slightly green), three quinces, twelve tomatoes (more green than ripe), eight small onions, four seeded raisins, one and a half pints vinegar, half a pint water, two cups brown sugar; spice a teaspoon of each, allspice, cloves, ginger, cinnamon, mace or vary the spices to suit the taste. Dress and chop the fruit and the tomatoes and put all except the bananas through the meat chopper; slice the bananas; add the vinegar, water, sugar and spice. Boil slowly for three or four hours until all are blended, then bottle. It is well to use an asbestos plate under the kettle, as it burns easily. Other fruits, such as peaches and grapes, may also be added. Firm peaches, such as "clings," are best, and grapes would have to be seeded.

English Recipe for Marmalade—Select, if possible, seedless fruit. Two lozenge oranges (medium size), a dozen lemons and four grapefruit. Disard the peel from half of the oranges; cut into thin slices the peeled and the unpeeled oranges, also the grapefruit and four of the lemons, peel and all. Measure the fruit, and to each pint of fruit add a generous pint and a half of water. Set aside for 24 hours; then cook in the same water for about an hour, counting from the time it begins to boil. Set aside for another 24 hours; then boil slowly until clear. Measure, and to each quart add two and a quarter pounds of sugar. Bring to a boil and cook rapidly for about 20 minutes, stirring and skimming. Test a few drops on a cold saucer every few minutes; when it shows a tendency to jelly add the juice of the eight remaining lemons; bring to a boil and bottle. This will make firm, clear marmalade.

Candied Orange Peel—For a few days save the peel from the oranges eaten by the family. Cut in narrow strips enough to about half fill a two quart pitcher. Fill the pitcher with cold water to which has been added a teaspoon of salt. Every morning for a week drain off the water and fill with fresh water; after the first two mornings omit the salt. At the end of the week boil three cups of cane sugar with one cup of water until it strings from the spoon, then add the orange peel, already drained, and stir until it begins to sugar; turn immediately onto a large flat dish and leave to cool. It can be kept almost indefinitely in glass jars.

Jelly Advice. Use good fruit which is a little underripe. Use the best granulated sugar. Do not make large quantities of jelly at one cooking. Heat the sugar in the oven before adding it to the fruit juice. If the juice must be boiled down, always do so before the sugar is added. The jelly will be clearer and finer if the fruit is simmered gently and not stirred during cooking. Do not allow the sirup to boil rapidly, or crystals may appear in jelly. Always make jelly on a bright, clear day.

Wash the jelly glasses in hot water and set them on a folded cloth rung out of hot water. Set the jelly in a sunny window for twenty-four hours, then cover with melted paraffin and set in a dry, cool place.

Drop Dumplings.

To have success in cooking drop dumplings in chicken pot-pie or stews, be sure the gravy is boiling when dropping them in, then cover closely at once and boil—not too hard—for ten or fifteen minutes, according to size. Do not move the kettle during the time. Set off to stop boiling before lifting the lid; serve on a warm platter and avoid piling one on top of another. This has been my experience, says a contributor to the Ladies' World, and I have had many failures before discovering what made my dumplings heavy.

White Mountain Cake.

One scant one-fourth cup of butter, one even cup of sugar, Cream till

TO BRAISE A GUINEA HEN

Excellent Dish May Be Made From Fowl if Necessary Time and Care Is Given.

A young, tender guinea fowl is not to be despised. When well selected and cooked, it is not very unlike a partridge. A young fowl can be told by pressing the breast bone at the tip; if it is pliant, the wings very tender, the legs smooth, free from feathers, and a pale yellow color, buy it. A young fowl will require about one hour and fifteen minutes for braising; older ones double the time. Dress and truss as chicken. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in the pan; when hot, lay in the guinea, and turn on all sides until lightly browned; add a sliced carrot, small onion, bits of celery, a cup of tomato juice or stock; cover closely and cook very slowly and gently until tender. Salt lightly after it has cooked an hour. A casserole is better than a covered roaster for braising. Serve on a platter, garnished with watercress, the gravy in a sauce boat.—National Food Magazine.

Steamed Rice and Salmon.

A way to use salmon a little different from the usual recipe is as follows: Line a bread pan, slightly buttered, with warm steamed rice. Fill the center with cold boiled salmon, flaked and seasoned with salt, pepper and a slight grating of nutmeg. Cover with rice and steam one hour. Run on a hot platter for serving and pour around egg sauce, one-third cup butter, three tablespoons flour, one and one-half cups hot water, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, beaten yolks of three eggs and one teaspoon lemon juice. Melt half butter, add flour with seasonings and pour on gradually hot water. Boil five minutes and add remaining butter in small pieces.

Uses for Parsley.

You can flavor a lot of things with parsley. Cut it up fine and put in soup. It makes a different kind of soup altogether, and I am sure you will be pleased with the result. If you would like a few Swedish dishes in which parsley is used I would like to send them to you. I would like to send you my way of putting up parsley for the winter if you have it in the garden. Don't you ever put parsley in your gravies and stuffing for fowls? I use parsley at nearly every meal, both for cooking and garnishing. Wish you would try some of my Swedish dishes. They are plain but very good.

Eggplant Fritters.

Sift thoroughly one cup of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper. Add enough milk to make a stiff batter and one egg well beaten. Then stir into it the mashed egg-plant pulp. Drop this, a spoonful at a time, in hot fat and fry a golden brown. Use olive oil or cotton seed oil in preference to lard in frying, as it is more palatable and healthful.

Oxford Salad.

Small leaves of lettuce, three to each guest. On each a slice of orange, cut not too thin. On each slice of orange place a strip of canned red sweet pepper. Over all pour a dressing made of the juice from the ends of oranges, a little of pepper liquor and plenty of salt. Very pretty and so good.

Pumpkin Fritters.

One pint of pumpkin boiled and sifted, one pint of milk, two eggs, one half teaspoon salt, pinch of ginger. One teaspoon molasses, flour to make a batter stiff enough to drop on griddle as for buckwheat.

Tea Cake.

Half cup sugar, one tablespoon butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one egg, one cup sweet milk, two teaspoons baking powder and two and one-half cups of flour. Bake in moderate oven about 20 minutes.

UNREST IN ENGLAND

Duke of Marlborough Blames Dearth of Cottages for Evil.

Absence of Homes for Humblest Classes of Rural Workers Is Depopulating the Country—"Week Enders" Is Chief Cause.

London.—When the duke of Marlborough, in his recent articles in the Daily Mail on "Industrial Unrest in England," traced the source of the trouble back to the dearth of cottages for country laborers, it seemed rather fanciful, but since his articles were printed no small amount of evidence has appeared to back up his theory. One of the most interesting contributions to the discussion comes from "A Country Parson," who says that the dearth of homes for the humblest classes of rural workers is a crying evil. According to him, it is depopulating the country.

Marriages among the young people are at a discount, he says. Twenty years ago, in his parish, the registers show there was a yearly average of six marriages of agricultural laborers. During the last eight years this average has been reduced to one. Assuredly this statement backs up the duke of Marlborough.

The young men in the country have no inducements to marry there and no homes to settle down in. They flock to the cities, they crowd out the city born of weaker physique, they lower the standard of wages by glutting the labor market. Then come poverty, strike, paralysis of business, general all-round disaster.

But why should there be a dearth of rural cottages. Why does not the law of supply and demand operate to end it in short order? One reason seems to be that all sorts of outsiders are competing with the agricultural laborer in the way of a cottage that may exist or be built in rural regions. Behind this is the fundamental cause, the fact that the agricultural laborer is so badly paid or paid in such an unpractical way that he is not able to pay anything like a decent rent for a home—anything like the rent which will return even the smallest interest on the builder's investment.

Illustrating the competition with the laborer for the rural cottage, the cause of the week ender is cited. The week ender of moderate means wants a very cheap place where he can run down in fine weather and spend a day or two at what is to him merely nominal expense. He finds a laborer's cottage picturesquely situated; he goes to the landlord and offers a goodly sum for rent for it, say five shillings or $1.25 a week, on condition that it be restored or fixed up—put in good order. The landlord cheerfully accepts the offer and puts the cottage in first-rate condition, for the rent of the city man offers, absurd though it may seem to a New Yorker, is anywhere from three to five times as much as the agricultural laborer can afford to pay.

MAY CALL OFFICER A "GINK"

And, Philadelphia Judge Holds, Doesn't Justify Arrest of Former Pugilist.

Philadelphia.—Magistrate Coward sitting in city hall, today decided it is no crime to call a policeman a "gink," no matter what construction is placed upon the word. The Magistrate listened to the evidence of Policeman Phil of the vice squad, who had arrested Jack Hanlon, the former pugilist, whom he accused of calling him a gink when Phil was on duty in the Tenderloin.

When the judge heard the case he said: "Well, that is not wrong. I've called worse things than that a dozen times a day. I don't care how you take it. If that is all that the man said you had no right to arrest him."

In the cross-examination of Phil Hanlon's lawyer asked Phil if he knew what the word meant. When the policeman said he did not know the attorney said: "Well, if you don't know now, you will soon enough, for you have been accused of being a 'gink' before, and you had better be careful or they may make more than accusations the next time." The Magistrate suspended further hostilities by discharging the prisoner.

LOCAL DASHES

Local democrats have their first rally of the campaign this evening. Live Lobsters, Butterfish, Halibut, Haddock, Mackerel, meats and provisions at E. S. Downes, 37 Market street. Free concert, free music, free heat, free air, K. of C. Fair, Freeman's Annex, Nov. 4, 5, and 6. A private clam bake was served at Poyer Point on Sunday and was attended by quite a number from this city.

Scissors, knives and edge-tools etc., ground, levels set, keys made and locks repaired. W. H. Horne 23 Daniel St.

Lobsters and fish of all kinds caught by our own boats fresh every day. E. Jamieson and Sons, Tel. 653. The weather on Sunday was all that could be desired and was greatly enjoyed by automobile parties.

Any time you want to take a drive just telephone 3, and Hislop will do the rest.

Some excellent views of the crowd in attendance at the exercises at the play grounds in connection with the visit of President Taft on Wednesday last were secured by local photographers.

At the democratic rally Monday evening Mayor Badger will preside. It is expected he may say something, as the mayor has a faculty of saying things of interest when occasion requires.

Damon Lodge No. 9, Knights of Pythias, meets on Tuesday evening and the third rank staff will hold a rehearsal. At the meeting on Tuesday evening, November 5, the rank of Page will be conferred on a class of candidates.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO NAVY YARD EMPLOYEES

Great Targets for Fleet

In the outline of battle and target practice to be carried on by the ship of the Atlantic fleet next month the old torpedo boats Cushing, McKee and Ericson which have been condemned as useless, will be used at night for torpedo defense practice.

The condemned boats will be filled with cork to keep them afloat after being struck. In the spotting practice the old Texas will again serve as a target. To determine its effect sharpshooting will be used. The navy believes this form of ammunition to be very effective against air craft.

Only One Left on the Tag.

Fireman Jennings of the tug Penacook was today transferred to the U. S. S. Padmech. Of the original crew of the tug when she came here from Norfolk two years ago only one man remains, a cook by the name of Cotter.

Boston's New Crane.

Congress has appropriated $150,000 for the completion of a 150-ton floating crane for the navy yard at Boston Mass. The amount originally authorized for the crane was $225,000, and the amount appropriated this year will complete it. There is a saving on this undertaking of $75,000. When the construction of the crane was authorized it was intended to be of 100 tons capacity, but since putting 14-inch guns on ships, the weight of the turrets has been increased, and it was believed necessary to design a crane with a beam of 100 feet and having a capacity of lifting at least 140 tons. It was necessary to increase the limit of expenditure to provide for this increased size.—Army and Navy Register.

To Sail This Week.

Two of the mosquito fleet are expected to get away from the yard this week, the Padmech on Thursday and the Eagle on Friday.

Calling on His Old Friends.

John F. Webb, of New York, son of the late Naval Constructor Webb, for several years stationed here, was a visitor at the yard today, renewing his old acquaintances.

Leon Cove Heard From.

The management of the S. & A. bowling league is in receipt of a communication from the Matt and Jeff bowling team of Leon Cove, which contains a bowling deft with anything the yard boys have to offer.

It's Good Reading.

The article from the Army and Navy Register written by Rear Admiral John T. Edwards entitled "An Attack on Scientific Management," in another column of the Herald will certainly make interesting reading matter to government employees who are employed on the Portsmouth yard where the rear admiral was formerly stationed here as an engineer officer. Admiral Edwards is known as a man who does things.

He May Use Chloroform.

Fred McDermott of the yard boiler shop force gained considerable prominence as a post prandial speaker last Wednesday night on the return trip from Dover to this city. Freddie, as he is called by the girls of Exeter and Dover, took the center of the large auto truck and began his remarks in this way: "Ladies and Gentlemen, your attention for ten minutes. I will proceed to say a few words on why this beautiful rain—." As the truck was uncovered his friends were delighted with the subject and proceeded to show their appreciation by a generous bestowal of rubbers, shoes, umbrellas and other bouquets. Freddie still has his subject under cover and says it must be on some future occasion even if he has to use chloroform.

A Few Days at the Yard

Medical Director Howard Wells and daughter are passing a few days at the yard, where Dr. Wells was formerly stationed.

Enjoyed Concert

The open air concert by the naval band this morning was much enjoyed by a large number of visitors.

Can't they Get them at Home

Ipswich is the Mecca of quite a few of the workmen during their vacation days. As many of the men are residents of New Castle, and Kittery Point it is supposed that the quality of the Ipswich clams is the attraction.

The Herald Hears

That the government does not expect to open the new naval hospital here January 1.

That the board of public work should be proud of the dirt on Congress and Market streets over Sunday.

That the mud on the crosswalks and the general condition of Deer street near the passenger station is another exhibition of how things are done.

That this municipal department is certainly immune.

That the campaign flag on Pleasant street is up for repairs.

That the Sunday gunner is getting very bold.

That there is a reckless use of firearms on the Lord's day.

That in the north end district a gun is real plaything with young boys.

That freight on the Boston & Maine is very heavy.

That smelt fishing along the docks was much in evidence on Sunday.

That a bunch of rowdies enjoyed themselves on Saturday night smashing the electric lights on the road to New Castle.

That the York Harbor and Beach ranch of the Boston & Maine rail road may not discontinue the service I remember this year.

That there is a reason why the rail road may continue the service through the winter.

That the girl at the shoe shop has rapped the monkey wrench since Jack Hagger got bagged.

That the democrats appear to be conducting a campaign of literature.

That the commanding officer of the First Company Coast Artillery has just learned why there was one missing in the ranks the day of the President's visit.

That this Newington recruit who walked all the way from the neighboring town passed the afternoon locked up in the armory.

That the Lieut. of the company has got to square himself for making this soldier a prisoner who wanted to see the President so bad.

That he never even got a look at the nation's chief executive.

That the Bull Moose says the gun shoe men will be doing a stunt here on election day.

That all the spare cash must be kept out of sight.

That the democrats also have a hand in the game.

MAYOR TO TALK

Promises Something on Local Issues it Is Said at the Rally Tonight.

Mayor D. W. Bridger who will preside at the democratic rally tonight promises something of interest on local issues to those who attend. A lot of people are wondering what the mayor has up his sleeve, but nobody seems to know what is coming from the city's chief executive tonight when he acts as presiding officer of the democratic love feast at Freeman's Hall.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WOMEN'S GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Women's Guild of the North Church, will be held at the Parish house, on Tuesday, October 29, at 3 o'clock. All ladies of the parish are cordially invited to be present.

DIRTY STREETS ON SUNDAY.

As usual there was a grand rush by the street department this morning to get the dirt off Congress street. On Sunday the condition of all the streets in the business section of the city was nothing short of filthy. A little enterprise on the part of the street department all over the city would be appreciated.

ARRESTED IN ST. LOUIS.

Yeoman of the U. S. S. Eagle Wanted by Postoffice Department Brought Back Here.

Franklin L. Bowdoin, a ship's writer attached to the U. S. S. Eagle, was brought to the yard on Sunday by a civilian officer who arrested him at St. Louis on Thursday last.

Bowdoin is wanted by the postoffice department for a shortage of $100 in his accounts, discovered by Postoffice Inspector Stone who was called into the case after the disappearance of Bowdoin on Oct. 3.

The local police have been holding a reward of $50 for the arrest of Bowdoin for the past two weeks.

PAINTERS' ATTENTION.

The regular meeting of the Painters Union No. 81 will be held at Grand Army Hall, Daniel St., on Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Signed

John S. Gahan
Rec. Sec., Local No. 81.

FURTHER POSTPONEMENT

Salem, Mass., October, 28.—The trial of Etter and his associates was not resumed this morning owing to the continued illness of Juror, John N. Carter of Newburyport. The case will be resumed on Wednesday.

CHRIST CHURCH

The special service at Christ church this evening will be led by Rev. George B. Wood.

LOST—On Monday morning October 28, either on Congress or Daniel street, or in that vicinity, a Japanese watch chain, of value to owner only. Finder will be rewarded if same is returned to E. Frank Gardner, Ralston Court.
